Manion's International Auction House announces special Sci-Fi collectibles auction – Star Wars, Star Trek, Godzilla, Ultraman, X-Men, and more . . . auction closes 4.26.09

Kansas City, Kansas (March 26, 2009) – Two non-militaria related special auctions for Manion's International Auction House, Inc. in a month? Manion's brand new special Sci-Fi auction is online now, coming hot on the heels of their collectible toy auction -- their first non-military realted auction in many years.

“Everyone knows Manion's International Auction House is synonymous with military collectibles,” said company VP John Conway. “We've come across some other interesting collections lately, and thought we'd feature them on our online auction website.”

The results were encouraging.

“Our collectible toy auction went very well,” said Conway, “and a Sci-Fi collector contacted us about consigning.”

Manion's accepted the consignment, and contacted a couple collectors of similar items.

“Just like that, we had a new special auction,” Conway said. “Few companies enjoy our versatility, and the ability to put a special auction together so quickly.”

While several special auctions are featured on a regular basis, online auctions close 365 days a year on their website: www.manions.com.

“The Sci-Fi special auction features hundreds and hundreds of Star Wars action figures and vehicles,” said Conway. “Other Sci-Fi areas of interest include Godzilla, Ultraman, Star Trek, X-Men, and many more.”

Continue to count on Manion's for militaria, but begin to look towards the longstanding company for other areas of collecting. On the horizon, Manion's is planning several special auctions in diverse areas of collecting: Public Enemy Number One – Mafia Memorabilia, Military Medical, and Sporting Collectibles.
